

Annie Pockriss has been working as a genetic counselor for over eight years. She has an M.S. in medical genetics from the University of Cincinnati where she was trained at Cincinnati Children's Hospital. After leaving Ohio, she spent three years living in San Francisco and working in both prenatal and pediatrics at Children's Hospital Oakland. Annie has been a member of the Division of Medical Genetics at Beth Israel Medical Center since 2000.